ORGANIZED TO MAINTAIN STANDARDS IN THE BUILDING MOVING INDUSTRY

MIDSTATES CONVENTION UPDATE

Midstates held their convention in Des Moines, Iowa. Edgar Dodson did a presentation on job estimating using an excel spreadsheet. Mel Virrueta said they did something similar but that Edgar's had more details. Cairie Virrueta created something similar using Google Sheets, so that it can be accessed from any computer or cell phone. She demonstrated how to use it. She will email it to anyone interested and can help them learn to use it. Mel Virrueta was elected President and Ken Shanahan Vice President at the Midstates Convention.

NEW BUSINESS

INFORMATIONAL BROCHURE

Cairie Virrueta showed a draft of a brochure/pamphlet she is making regarding the belief that building moving damages roads and addressing it. The members liked it. Mike Peterson would like to see it presented similar to the newsletter to distribute to members. Mel Virrueta said it could be given to municipalities. Russ Childs suggested sending it to the Towns Association and Cairie Virrueta also suggested the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. Cairie will continue to work on it.

PROTOCOL FOR BUILDING MOVING

Mel Virrueta said it would be useful for the association to make a protocol or standard for what is needed to do moves. He said this document could help municipalities or inspectors who do not have any ordinances on building moving and create a standard across the state. He said a seminar done by Matt Sundeen from the Maguire Insurance Agency showed that building moving is safe - all the claims are not directly related to moving, but more typical of the general construction industry. Matt Childs said on the last WisDOT permit they were required to provide all the contacts for utilities, escorts, etc. before releasing the permit and that this was new and they were not aware of it. Mel Virrueta said the DOT asked him for written OK's that he contacted wire companies even if they were not required for the move. Other movers said they were asked the same thing even for buildings under 16' tall. By the association creating standards it can assist DOT inspectors and others involved in the move have information to go by. Russ Childs suggested setting up a meeting with the OS/OW office to open communication on it. As their office may not be open, Mike Peterson suggested hosting the meeting. Matt Childs will get the rules from neighboring states to help put something together and email it to everyone. Mel Virrueta told everyone to take a look at them and share the parts they think are useful. Ken Shanahan noted that standards would help create consistency across the state, such as with inspections or requirements. Russ Childs said this would be very helpful as many of the OS/OW staff who are familiar with building moving are retiring and new people who don't know anything on moving will replace them. Russ Childs said everyone should email the problems they have encountered to Cairie Virrueta, so it can be determined what needs to be dealt with. Matt Childs suggested having a zoom meeting in a couple of months to discuss the ideas for the standards.

BUILDING MOVING INSURANCE

Russ Childs asked what companies insure movers? M&P and the Maguire Agency were the only two everyone was aware of. Mike Peterson said he looked at Pennsylvania Lumbermen a few years ago, but they had a unique CDL requirement. Marvin Eis uses Scottsdale Insurance and will look into them.
